

Abstract

A suture placer for placing a length of suture wire through tissue such that the suture wire is directed into the tissue and then back out again.